

AGED CARE BUILDING PLANS

One of the major concerns for the industry currently is the strong indication from providers that due to the current financial climate many have decided to complete only their current building works and not commit to further development beyond what is currently in the pipeline.

ACIC understands that much of this concern is being driven by the adequacy of the capital stream available to particularly residential high care, the uncertainty surrounding the funding likely to flow with the introduction of ACFI and the adequacy of the supposed capital solution offered by the previous Government when announcing 'Securing the Future' package in February 2007.

ACIC is therefore seeking indications from the industry so that we can be better informed lobbying Government on the capital needs of the industry as to what impact the current financial circumstances in which the industry finds itself is having upon your capital plans for the future.

Accordingly, we would seek your assistance in completing the attached survey instrument which we hope will take you no more than 10 minutes. Can you please complete a separate survey for each site. The survey can also be downloaded and completed electronically from this website, the link appears below.
